The Challenge

The entire sky sign project was managed by Claude Neon, from the initial concept and supply, through to the delivery and signage installation. The signage design and drawings were created by Claude Neon's in-house design team before the project management team coordinated the manufacture, install and council approval process.

The Result

Due to restrictive access to the building, rope access installers were engaged for installation. This requirement, combined with adverse weather conditions and a tight time frame created a challenging job for Claude Neon. However, with more than 80 years experience in the management of sky sign delivery, Claude Neon was well equipped to overcome these challenges and produced a successful project, delivered on time and on budget.
